On Tuesday State Food Inspector Peterson filed with the Governor a sup-plemental report to the one he filed on Monday. This supplemental report, which pertains to the butter trust, is self-explanatory. Here is what Mr. Peterson says: Peterson says:

Peterson says:

In answer to the question, "Are certain creameries here in a trust?" is a very difficult matter to determine. It is very evident that the Jensen Creamery company and the Eigin Creamery company are making strenuous efforts and are that the farmers should receive the highest possible price for their butter fat. It appears equally evident that the commission men are anxious to give the people butter at the lowest possible price. It occurs to me that neither are actuated by philanthropic motives, as some commission men and wholesalers have had and now have, large quantities of storage butter on hand, therefore they have of it.

Paxton & Gallagher of Omaha for violation of the branding clause in section 8 of the pure food law. The complaint of Anderson & McNaughton sets forth that a box of figs marked to contain five pounds contained only four pounds and ten ounces, being short weight over 10 per cent. In letters to the Auburn firm, Paxton & Gallagher excuse themselves for this discrepancy in weight and refuse to make good the shortage on the theory that figs are sold in wholesale packages with an allowance of 10 per cent for tare in favor of the wholesale house. The food commissioner holds that the requirement to correctly label food packages with the amount of the contents applies to the wholesale package as well as to the prepared retail package, and has advised all retail dealers where complaints have been made of short weight in the wholesale package that such cases will be

BODY OF BIGGY IS FINALLY RECOVERED

Corpse Found in Bay Two Weeks After Mysterious Death of Police Chief.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15 .- The body of Chief of Police Biggy, who was drowned from the police launch Patrol, opposite Alcatraz island, in San Francisco bay, on the night of November 30, was found this morning by the crew of the freight ferry boat Transit. It was floating off Goat island face upward with the arms outstretched. The harbor police were at once notified and, procuring a launch, Sergeant Donovan recovered the remains. The face is very much disfigured, but the body has been fully identified as that of the dead chief.

When the corpse was taken from the water it had on the long coat and gloves worn by Biggy on the night of his disappearance.

No Papers Found.

In the presence of Acting Chief Cutler, Chief Deputy Coroner Kennedy and other officials, a search of the clothing in which the body was attired was made at the morgue. So far as could be asocrtained, there were no papers in the pockets to which any significance could be attached, and it was concluded that if Chief Biggy had a written resignation prepared on the occasion of his visit to Police Commissioner Hugo Keil at the latter's home in Belvedere, he had disposed of it in some manner before he met his death. Much to the surprise of the searchers, a hammerless revolver, with all chambers loaded, was found in a pocket, notwithstanding the fact that the late chief's pistol was found after his death in a restaurant where he had dinner on the wight of his death

tol was found after his death in a restaurant where he had dinner on the night of his death.

There was no mark of violence on the body, but an autopsy will be held to assist, if possible, in clearing up the "Brewster's Millions" drew a big audience at the Salt Lake theater again on Tuesday evening. Robert Ober again demonstrated how difficult it was to spend a million dollars in a year, and June Mathis as Peggy again pleased her host of friends in Salt Lake by the admirable way in which she portrayed the character. You should see Monty Brewster. He drives away the blues. He makes you forget that New Year's day will soon be here, when you will have to meet the bills for the thousand and one things which your wife is now buying and having charged to you. Oh, if you only had some of Monty's money, how easy you could spend it. "Brewster's Millions" will be seen at the Salt Lake theater at the matinee this afternoon and again this evening.

ISABELLA J. MARTIN CONVICTED BY JURY

Climax of Sensational Case Involving Oakland Woman and "Baby John."

on Saturday next the New Lyric theater will change from talking pictures to a full programme of moving pictures, the best that money can buy, and illustrated songs. In the near future other features will be added. Manager Clark will remain in conduct of the house and it is his purpose to show none but the finest pictures and those that are entireunobjectionable. He proposes to uniform his attendants and to devote especial attention to ladies and children. Since the house opened with the cameraphone, a little over six months ago, there have been over 135,000 paid admissions. The ventilation of the house is perfect, and with its large scating capacity of 1100 there is ordinarily room without crowding. The patrons may expect a marked improvement from week to week at this, one of the largest moving picture houses in the United States.

Considerable interest is being taken in OAKLAND, Cal., Dec. 15.—Mrs. Isabella J. Martin, charged with conspiracy in dynamiting the residence of Judge F. B. Ogden on March 19, 1907. was found guilty today by a jury which was out less than ten minutes. The case has been on trial here for several months and has been replete with sen-sational incidents. Judge Wells fixed the time of sentence for next Saturday morning. The maximum penalty is life imprisonment. The motive for the crime was revenge upon Judge Ogden Considerable interest is being taken in the waltzing tournament started by the Auditorium management this week and it promises to bring out the most grace-ful dancers of the city to compete for cash prizes each Wednesday and in the finals a few weeks hence. erime was revenge upon Judge Ogden for an adverse decision in a suit to recover money from an insurance company for houses she is said to have fired herself.

Hope Booth, Charles Deland and Frank Dickson, who are presenting George M. Conan's "The Little Blond Lady" at the Orpheum this week, are the headliners of a very superior bill. This sketch is sparkling and bright and is replete with delightful comedy. Besides this act there are on the programme Valadon, the Kinsons, Burt Earle, Amy Stanley, Leo Donnelly and Alexis and Schall, which makes the Orpheum a desirable place to spend an afternoon or evening any day this week. tin, her ward, was the son of Frincess Chimay.

The actual dynamiting of the Ogden home was committed by "Baby John." He confessed and on the stand told how Mrs. Martin had compelled him to blow up the jurist's house. No one was killed in the explosion, but the place was badly damaged. The examination of the 17-year-old youth developed the fact that Mrs. Martin had planned the dynamiting of several other persons against whom she bore malice. Sticks of dynamite had been concealed in various parts of the city, the location of which was divulged by "Baby John," who personally conducted the officers to those places where the explosives were found. Mr. Hall has been featured in this production all this season, and has made most faverable impressions wherever he has appeared. "The Devil" will be presented throughout the entire week, with the usual matiness. You should see "A Gold Mine," at the Colonial this afternoon at the matinee or again this evening. No prettier play has been presented in Salt Lake. You will really enjoy seeing it. were found
